New Dallas Office Highlighted in Law360 Office Snapshot

March 7, 2023

In February, MG+M The Law Firm announced the opening of a new office in Dallas, Texas, with MG+M Partners David Fisher, Brent Karren, Jeanette Riggins, William Shultz and Todd Suddleson on the Dallas team. Brent spoke with Law360 about the expansion in a profile on the new office.

The Law360 profile discusses MG+M's chosen location in the heart of Dallas' historic Main Street District, the firm's ongoing work in Texas and our plans to grow the team.

"Dallas is a great spot to handle cases from around the state and a great place to continue to develop a law practice," Brent says in the article. "We're not at a set speed [but] we're definitely in growth mode for the Texas market."

Now with 14 offices in major US markets, MG+M's growing national network of resources and local counsel allows us to deploy rapidly in response to litigation demands anywhere in the country. The partners on the Dallas team will maintain their robust national practices, and will have local and national trial capability in a range of practice areas, including product liability litigation, toxic tort and asbestos litigation, environmental and PFAS litigation, construction litigation, general liability, business and corporate litigation, and more.
